#PurpleLightUp highlighting disability and inclusion

Description

The Met Office's Exeter headquarters lit up in purple highlighting the International Day of Persons with Disabilities. Picture: Adrian Holloway/Grahame Madge

Today (3 December) is the International Day of Persons with Disabilities. The Met Office is a Disability Confident Employer and is today showing its commitment towards supporting disability and inclusion in the workplace by lighting up the outside of our Exeter headquarters in purple.

#PurpleLightUp is a global movement that celebrates and draws attention to the economic contribution of the 386 million disabled employees around the world.

Further information on the International Day of Persons with Disabilities is available here.
